Ruthless Purge Stamping Out Rebellion In Germany

. . . Scores Of High Army Officers Reported Put To Death

—LIBERATION OF GUAM—

Yanks Slash Ahead

SWIFT PROGRESS AND LIGHT CASUALTIES AS SOLDIERS MOVE INLAND

(By the Associated Press.)

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, July 22—The liberation of Guam—avenging the tiny American garrison overrun by Japanese hordes in December, 1941—was pushed ahead of schedule today by steadily reinforced Yanks swarming off ships onto the former U. S. outpost.

They threatened to pinch off and quickly capture Port Apra, core of Guam's defense system on the west coast. From mile-long beachheads easily won north and south of the fine harbor, marines and soldiers moved inland to scale heights dominating its rear.

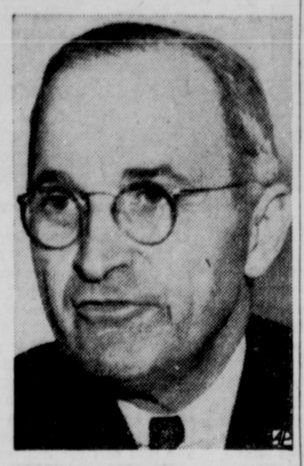

Communiques and war correspondent eyewitness reports from the scene of Thursday's invasion told of swift progress and light casualties.

Tokyo Admits Landings.

Tokyo radio, belatedly announcing the invasion to a homeland already beset by a war cabinet shakeup, said a division (about 12,000 men) and 150 tanks landed in the vicinity of Asan north of the harbor and a half division at Agat, to the south.

CONVENTION AT A GLANCE

(By the Associaaed Press.)

The 29th quadriennial democratic convention adjourned sine die at 8:20 p. m. (CWT) Friday, July 21, after three days in which:

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was nominated for a fourth term by a vote of 1,086 to 89 for Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and one for James A. Farley of New York.

Senator Harry Truman of Missouri was chosen for the vice presidential campaign by a vote of 1,031 to 105 for Henry A. Wallace; 26 for Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee; 6 for Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky; 4 for Supreme court Justice William O. Douglas and 1 for Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt.

A 1,500-word platform was adopted, calling for a world organization to maintain peace, by force if necessary; a global free press, and domestically standing on the principles of the new deal and the Roosevelt record.

Anti-new deal southerners helped to beat Wallace, their only avowed accomplishment. Pleas to restore the two-thirds nominating rule in the convention and to write a "white supremacy" plank into the platform were turned down. The convention seated half of each of the "regular" and "rump" delegations which came from Texas, precipitating a bolt of 33 Texans and third party talk.

SLAM-BANG DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION WINDS UP ON HARMONIOUS PITCH

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—The democratic party called on a vigorous, practical politician today in Harry S. Truman of Missouri, its new vice presidential nominee, to carry the fight to the republicans in a campaign for a fourth white house term for President Roosevelt.

The 60-year-old piano-thumping senator, whose grin is kindled by wide blue eyes behind thick-lensed spectacles, beat Henry A. Wallace to the second place nomination in an eight-hour windup session of the democratic national convention yesterday. With the job he inherited the task of conducting a campaign for which the president said he had little time.

Just as Mr. Roosevelt's selection for a fourth term was kept from being unanimous by 89 votes for Senator Harry F. Byrd and one for James A. Farley, so the nomination of the chunky chairman of the senate's war investigating committee went into the records with this count:

Wallace Gets 105.

For Truman, 1,031; Wallace, 105; Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme court, 4; Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, 26; Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, 6; Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, 1. Three of the 1,176 delegates were absent.

The vice presidential balloting, which began on a bitter note of strife between the CIO political action committee and the big-city democratic chieftains who have had a great deal to say about party affairs in the last 12 years, ended on a publicly harmonious pitch.

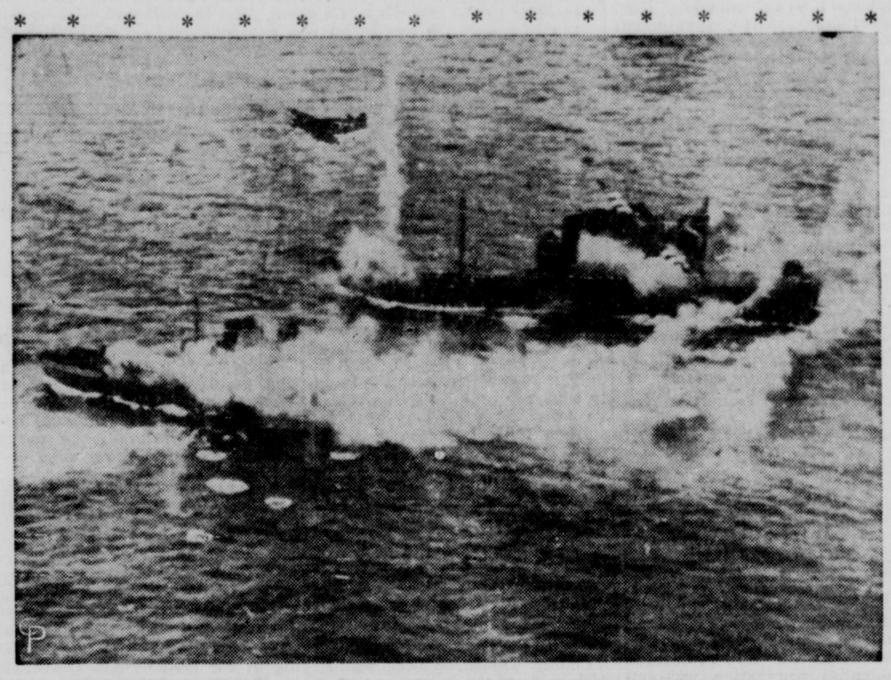

But there remained a note of Dixie dissent, perhaps most clearly expressed by Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee, who arose to complain that his state's 26 votes remained to the last recorded for Gov. Cooper.

Hillman Bested.

McKellar's protest was lost in the banging of Chairman Samuel D. Jackson's gavel, which dented the speakers' stand earlier in the day in attempts to quell demonstrations from the galleries for Wallace, apparently touched off by CIO sympathizers.

It was, admittedly, a test of strength between the adherents of Wallace, who had received a lukewarm endorsement from the president, and the men like Mayor Edward Kelly of Chicago, National Committeeman Edward J. Flynn of New York and Mayor

Fuehrer Says Nazi Foes Are Crushed

. . . Hitler Forces Appear Firmly In Power

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, July 22—(AP)—Adolf Hitler asserted in an order of the day to German troops today that an attempted coup d'etat by "a small circle of unscrupulous officers" had been crushed, and expressed confidence the army "will fight with exemplary obedience and loyalty until victory is ours in spite of all."

"By immediate and vigorous action by loyal officers and men of the army at home, the traitor clique was wiped out or arrested in the matter of a few hours," Hitler said.

His order, an obvious attempt to reassure his own followers in army ranks and to discourage any further revolt, came as press and eyewitness accounts indicated that nowhere had the enemies of Hitler succeeded in seizing power or taking over key positions.

Bloody and Ruthless.

A rapid, bloody and ruthless purge apparently had stamped out the rebellion. Reports reaching Stockholm said that perhaps 100 generals or high officers had been executed. Travelers to Sweden said more than 1,000 persons had been arrested through Friday.

Change Normandy Generals.

(An NBC broadcast from London declared Field Marshal Rommel had been forced to change two armored division commanders in Normandy for "political reasons." The two divisional generals were replaced, before the Thursday attempt on Hitlers' life, by "two juvenile political colonels, both under 33, who have a record of fanatical nazi loyalty," the broadcast said).

A dispatch, clearing through Berlin censorship to Der Bund at Bern, Switzerland, today said any effort at revolt could be considered to have collapsed. Government quarters in the German capital were blocked off Friday "by troops of the army and the armed SS for many hours, presumably to carry out purge measures," the dispatch said.

(A staff officer of the American First army said that current developments in Germany indicated that Hitler's elite SS troops had gained the ascendency in the German army ranks in France.)

Gestapo Strikes.

Through Switzerland came an unconfirmed report that the gestapo may have slaughtered some of the most illustrious figures in the army, all long-time foes of the nazi regime.

These were said to include Field Marshals Walther Von Brfauchitsch, Karl Gerd Von Runstedt, Sigmund Wilhelm List and Fritz Erich Von Mannstein—none of whom has been heard from since Berlin announced two days ago that Adolf Hitler had narrowly escaped assassination.

Two reports, wholly unconfirmed, indicate unrest in the German navy as well as the army.

Unrest In Navy Also.

Radio France in Algiers quoted reports from Basel that it was

HITLER CLAIMS VICTORY

. . . Over Revolters

LONDON, July 22—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, in a bid to keep the German army behind him despite an apparent revolt by some high generals, issued an order of the day to soldiers today telling of the assassination attempt against him.

Hitler declared "the traitor clique was wiped out or arrested."

He credited army officers and men with putting down civil war and affirmed his confidence that the army "will fight with exemplary obedience and loyalty until victory is ours."

The order was an obvious effort to reassure his own followers in army ranks and to discourage those inclined to further revolt.

Talks of Providence

Broadcast by a German news agency, the order declared:

"Soldiers of the army:

"A small circle of unscrupulous officers has made an attempt to murder me and the general staff and to seize power in the state.

"Providence caused the attempt to miscarry.

"By immediate and vigorous action by loyal officers and men of the army at home the traitor clique was wiped out or arrested in the matter of a few hours.

"I expect nothing else.

"I know that, as hitherto, you will fight with exemplary obedience and loyalty until victory is ours in spite of all."

Two Subs Overdue

Trout Carried Gold From Corregidor In Daring Feat of 1942

WASHINGTON, July 22—(AP)—Loss of two U. S. submarines—the Trout, of Philippine fame, and the Tullibee—was announced today by the navy.

The Trout, in the last days before the fall of the Philippines, slipped past Japanese shore batteries under cover of darkness to carry out vast amounts of gold and other valuables of the Philippine government, companies and individuals.

Both submarines are listed as overdue from patrol and presumed lost with their crews of about 65 officers and men on each vessel.

The losses bring to 27 the number of American submarines lost since the war started. All but four are listed as overdue on war patrols.

Awarded Silver Star.

All officers and men of the Trout were awarded the Silver Star by the army for their daring operations in the Philippines early in 1942 when the submarine slipped into Corregidor to deliver badly needed aircraft ammunition before the fortress fell to the Japanese. The Trout at that time

HANNEGAN IS RE-ELECTED

. . . DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—Robert E. Hannegan, the 41-year-old Missourian who served as President Roosevelt's agent at the democratic national convention and helped make Harry Truman his running mate, was re-elected chairman of the party's national committee today.

Hannegan, who thus will direct the democratic campaign, was unopposed for the office he has held since last January.

The other officers of the old committee also were renamed by the new group of national committeemen and women.

Their names were put in nomination by Edward J. Flynn of New York.

Treasurer Edwin W. Pauley of California, reported a cash balance on hand of $116,000 and reminded the committee that it was a "small amount" to have in the money chest at the start of the campaign. He also added that contributions received this year totaled $331,318.

ITALY-BASED BOMBERS PLASTER OIL WORKS; MOSQUITOS HIT BERLIN

LONDON, July 22 — (AP) — Between 500 and 750 American heavy bombers roared out from Italian bases and attacked the Ploesti oil area of Romania to-struck into Czechoslovakia and Germany.

The U. S. 15th air force heavies were escorted by Mustangs and Lightnings in the eleventh blow of the war by Mediterranean-based planes against Hitler's oil resources in the Ploesti area. A number of enemy fighters were met and flak was intense, the allied announcement said.

By night, British Mosquitos bombed Berlin, and Italian-based bombers struck into Czechoslovakia for the second time in less than 24 hours, hammering an oil refinery at Pardubice, 60 miles east of Prag (Prague).

In the last week, U. S. strategic air forces based in Britain and Italy have attacked more than 100 targets in Germany itesif, including plants making jet-propelled robot planes, which the allies consider a definite threat to their supremacy of the European skies, a spokesman said.

Temperature of 49 Lowest July Mark Here In 29 Years

These "nice, cool days" are really cool, considering that it is July and what the temperature usually has been during this summer month. On Friday morning, at 6:30 o'clock, for instance, the U. S. weather bureau recorded a low of 49 degrees at the air base and 54 on the University of Nebraska campus. A check of temperature records at the weather bureau disclosed that not since July 4, 1915, has there been a lower July temperature recorded. At that time the local reading was 48 degrees.

Weather for the last two months has been considerably below the average, and far below the same months of the last year. Heavy rains in April, May and June are believed the cause of the reduced temperatures.

WALLACE COMES UP SMILING

"I'M HAPPY ABOUT IT—REALLY," IOWAN TELLS HIS SYMPATHIZERS

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace came up smiling today after losing the biggest battle of his political career.

"I'm happy about it—I really am," he told sympathizers who filed through his hotel suite last night.

He was happy, he explained, because he thought the fight he had made for renomination had advanced further the cause of political and economic liberalism which he espouses.

And he made it clear he would go all the way for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket this fall. If he felt that the president, by making known that Senator Truman would be acceptable as a running mate had contributed to his defeat, he gave no sign of it.

"I believe more strongly than ever that President Roosevelt is the voice of western liberalism for the world," he said.

To senator Truman he sent this message:

"Congratulations upon your enlarged opportunity to help the president and the people. Both of us will do our maximum for Roosevelt and what Roosevelt stands for."

Eligibles For Tax Refund Are Sought

OMAHA, July 22—(AP)—Nebraska Collector of Internal Revenue George W. O'Malley is having a hard time finding some of the people eligible for refunds on their victory and income tax for 1942.

About 5 per cent of the taxpayers to whom refunds are mailed can't be located, O'Malley said, because they are overseas or have moved to other parts of the country.

Checks for those who cannot be located are returned to the disbursement office in Kansas City, which sends them to Washington where they are cancelled, O'Malley said.

O'Malley said about 150,000 refunds will be made.

Objectors To New Truck Rates To Be Heard

Objectors to the proposed rates sought by Nebraska motor carriers from the state railway commission will have their inning before the board starting Monday morning at the capitol.

The hearing on three applications to do away with airline distance computation of rates, to change rules and regulations for handling heavy machinery and to alter rates on groceries was held last June.

Continuance was granted representatives of Omaha, Lincoln and Grand Island merchants. They hold the increases and changes sought will eliminate geographical advantages they now hold as jobbing centers.

RAF Shoots Up Convoy

LONDON, July 22—(AP)—The RAF coastal command reported today that British Beaufighters had attacked an enemy convoy of 40 vessels off Helgoland, hitting four merchant ships with torpedoes, two of which were left sinking, setting five escort vessels afire and damaging most of the other ships in the convoy.

The operation was carried out shortly after dusk last evening, an air ministry communique said, adding that the British planes pressed home their attack despite a heavy barrage of rockets and flak sent up by the enemy ships.

Democrats Pick A New Battery Mate

Truman Nominated After Wallace Spurts Ahead On First Ballot

BY J. E. LAWRENCE.

CHICAGO, July 22—The game had gone into extra innings, and then the break came, when Maryland, which had cast its initial vote for its favorite son, Governor Herbert O'Connor, switched in a solid block to Senator Truman, of Missouri.

That started the irresistible tide to rolling. Alabama, which had plunked it down for its distinguished son, John H. Bankhead, followed Maryland's lead. State after state joined in. A valiant warrior, Vice President Henry A. Wallace, was engulfed. The final ballots showed the vote: Truman, 1,031; Wallace, 105, and a scattering for Douglas and Barkley.

It Was Ordained.

Wallace never had a chance to win. In the first dispatch that we sent from this city, printed last Monday, this appeared: "Vice-President Wallace faces a hopeless fight for renomination as a result of a coalition of his enemies among the southern democrats, with a sprinkling along the border state delegates and the northerners."

Under skillful handling that sprinkling in the border states, and some of the more populous northern states, became a deluge. It was the irony of this convention that Mr. Wallace himself contributed in no small degree to that spreading opposition by as manly, as honest, as courageous, and at the same time as indiscreet a speech as ever came from the lips of a candidate. From his lips came words which made the spine of the onlooker tingle and blood of the delegates to whom they were directed boil.

In The Lion's Den.

Throughout those closing hours yesterday, in a session which began at noon and did not terminate until well after 7 o'clock, the old Biblical version of Daniel in the lion's den constantly came to mind. Wallace was the lonely figure. He had friends in the galleries and on the floor of the convention, thousands of them, and yet to the onlooker the vice-president still wore the raiment of a lonely man. His face haggard, and lined—his hair rumpled—only once did he seem to be flesh and blood of the convention and that was when he was in front of the microphone to hurl defiance at his enemies.

Real Enjoyment.

In those brief minutes it seemed that Henry Wallace said what he long had wanted to say. His face was alight and a sardonic smile played upon his features while he stood there, coolly looking his opponents squarely in the face and lashing them in measured sentences. There is no tangible reason to believe the result would have been different if the speech had been undelivered. It was in the spirit of this convention from the beginning and before. It could be smelled in every hotel. It was on parade in the lobbies. It raced through the corridors, and paraded on the convention floor. There were many votes cast against Henry Wallace which would have been cast against Franklin Roosevelt if they dared. They were afraid to pick on the pitcher but they lost no time in ousting the catcher.

Why Harry Truman?

Senator Harry Truman occupied the strongest position of all of the candidates considered by the opposition to Henry Wallace. Despite the admitted fact that his entry into national politics came through the dubious credentials of a protege of the Pendergast gang in Kansas City, in the last year the Missourian has been one of the most valuable, perhaps the most valuable man in the United States senate.

He has been chairman of the senate committee investigating war production, and in that role his fairness, his grasp of military problems, and his high devotion to the task assigned him commanded the respect of millions of Americans. By comparison with Missouri's senior senator, Champ Clark, badly bitten by the isolation bug and frequently at war with the president, Truman has gained added stature in the democratic party. He isn't any intellectual giant. He isn't any romantic cavalier. He isn't any exotic crusader, but he is thorough, painstaking and orderly, and he has been right in the spirit of the American people in its military and peace purposes.

And What A Day.

This was a great convention. It wasn't bossed by any man. It wasn't organized by any man. Not even Kelly nd Hague and Flynn could have put that convention through its paces. Mr. Roosevelt could, and he is the only man who could. He could have peremptorily demanded the renomination of

GEN. KOISO . . . faces avenging allies.

—NEW GOVERNMENT—

Koiso Is Premier Of Japan

ADMIRAL YONAI NAVY MINISTER

(By the Associated Press.)

Gen. Kunkiaki Koiso, former governor-general of Korea and long an advocate of Japanese expansion, has been named premier of Japan in a new cabinet in which Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai became navy minister, it was announced in a Domei news agency dispatch broadcast from Tokyo today.

Domei said Yonai also would serve as "temporary deputy prime minister.

Heading the first new cabinet in Japan since the attack on Pearl Harbor, Koiso succeeds Gen. Hideki Tojo, whose government resigned five days ago almost simultaneously with the first Japanese acknowledgement of the loss to American forces of Saipan, a base that puts U. S. super-Fortresses within bombing range of Japan's main cities.

In the new cabinet there were two hold overs from the Tojo cabinet.

Besides Koiso and Jonai the broadcast, recorded by the Associated press, listed these other cabinet members.

Foreign minister and greater east Asia minister, Mamoru Shigemtsu; war, Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama; home affairs, Shigeo Odachi; finance, Sotaro Ishiwata; justice, Hiromasa Matsuzaka; education, Harushige Ninomiya; welfare, Hisatada Mirose; munitaions, Ginjiro Fujiwara; agriculture and commerce, Toshio Shimada; transportation and communications, Yonezo Maeda; ministers of state affairs, Chuji Machida, Hideo Yodama and Taketora Ogata.

The new 64-year-old premier was chief of staff of the Kwantung army in Manchuria before he became governor-general of Korea. This is the same army group to which Tojo belongs. It has played a leading role in Japanese affairs since the invasion of Manchuria in 1931 and since than has constantly prodded Japanese governments to adopt a more vigorous expansionist program.

Koiso was overseas minister in Admiral Yonai's cabinet that held office from January to July, 1940.

THE CASE OF The Crooked Candle

Based on the new detective mystery starring ace investigator Perry Mason

By ERLE STANLEY GARDNER
Illustrations by Stephen Grout

Della said, "A notebook might come in handy there . . ."

"I've heard of you," Van Nuys said.

He opened a briefcase and handed a paper to Mason . . .

WHEN Drake came on the telephone line, Mason said, "Make a note of this, Paul. J. C. Lassing is supposed to have rented Cabin 14 at the Surf and Sun Motel. I'd like to know a lot more about him."

"All right. I'll get busy."

"I'm just reading your report," Mason said. "Who discovered the body, Paul?"

Mason was surprised when Detective Drake revealed that the discoverer of the body was Frank Palermo, the squatter on the property of his client, Adelaide Kingman. But in a way the connection was apparent. Milfield or Burbank must have been in touch with Palermo in trying to buy the property.

"Here's something else," Drake said. "Harry Van Nuys told the clerk at his hotel that if he hadn't stopped Mrs. Milfield from going to San Francisco yesterday afternoon she'd have been in a sweet mess by this time. My man was hanging around the lobby and heard the remark."

"Nice going, Paul. I'll see what he has to say about it." Mason hung up and pushed the phone to one side. He said to Della Street, "You're going home and sleep."

His secretary smiled, opened her purse and calmly applied lipstick. "Not if you're going to beat the police to seeing Harry Van Nuys," she said. "A notebook might come in handy there."

The Hotel Cornish was on the fringe of the business district. Harry Van Nuys was waiting after their call from the lobby. He welcomed them in a voice that was suave, pleasant, well modulated and expressive. The restless eyes were black and his movements were graceful. "I've heard of you, Mr. Mason. Daphne told me you had called."

"Daphne Milfield?" Mason asked. Then abruptly, "Why did she change her mind about flying to San Francisco yesterday afternoon?"

"How did you know about that?"

"I'm investigating Milfield's murder," Mason said. "I think that canceled trip might have some bearing."

Van Nuys was thoughtfully silent for a long time. Suddenly he began talking and what he told cast new light on the character of Daphne Milfield. "She thought she was in love with a man in San Francisco," he said. "She was leaving Milfield. I called at their apartment, found a note she had left for him and intercepted her at the airport."

Van Nuys opened a briefcase, took out a paper and handed it to Mason . . .

Year's Taxes In County Hit $4,333,703

. . . 96 Pct. Collected

Taxpayers paid Lancaster county's treasury a total of $4,333,703 in taxes from June 30, 1943 to July 1, 1944 which gave the county a 96 per cent collection record on taxes from 1937 to 1942 inclusive, County Treasurer Berg's annual statement revealed.

Interest collected on delinquent taxes amounting to $47,675 was the largest amount of interest ever collected in one year of Lancaster county's history. Of the total 1942 tax levy of some 2¼ million dollars only $93,288 was unpaid which compared favorably with the $136,059 unpaid 1941 tax a year ago.

Million Dollar Balance.

County Treasurer Berg pointed with pride to the balance on hand of $1,367,251, of which $757,353 is invested in U. S. war bonds.

Receipts included the following: state of Nebraska, $659,295; county funds, $757,354; assistance funds $752,909; sanitary district, $168,722; school funds, $1,795,915; city of Lincoln, $89,718; village funds, $21,004; miscellaneous, $87,783. Of total school funds received, $1,719,126 was credited to Lincoln school district No. 1.

Percentage of taxes collected are as follows: 1942 tax, 96.36 per cent; 1941 tax, 96.50 per cent; 1940 tax, 96.61 per cent; 1939 tax, 96.71 per cent; 1938 tax, 96.86 per cent; 1937 tax, 96.71 per cent. Interest on delinquent taxes is distributed each year and credited to various tax funds and if it were considered as a tax collection the total percentage of 1942 taxes collected would be up to 98.22 per cent.

—WAR IN ITALY—

Close On Florence

. . . 14 Miles From City

ROME, July 22—(AP)—Fifth and Eighth army troops closed steadily in on Florence from three directions today with advance infantry elements only 14 miles from the historic city's edge directly to the south.

In this closest thrust, the Fifth army captured Tavernelle and the neighboring towns of Barberino Dal D'Elsa and Capanne.

An American column advancing through the Elsa valley toward the Arno river line captured Castel Fiorentino, 17 miles southwest of Florence, and British troops of the Eighth army, fighting in the area of San Giovanni in the upper Arno valley, were 18 miles to the southeast.

On the west coast American patrols probing the enemy's new defenses in the Arno valley reached a point within four miles of Pisa. Artillery duels raged between large concentrations of German guns on high ground north of the river and the Fifth army's long range guns.

On the Adriatic end of the battle line Polish troops pushed forward two or three miles and made contact with the retreating enemy four miles from the fishing port of Senigallia, at the mouth of the Misa river.

Tax Collections Not Outlawed By Time, Is Opinion

The statute of limitations does not run against the right of the state to enforce collection of revenue and does not interfere with its right to enforce tax collections under foreclosure proceedings, however long delayed.

This view is given in an opinion by Assistant Attorney General John H. Comstock for the attorney general to State Engineer Scott to settle a question raised by County Attorney Victor Westmark of Dundy county. The matter arose over obtaining right of way for a state highway. Comstock finds the state could pay the taxes due and delinquent at the time of taking the property or it could wait to learn whether anyone would buy the property at tax sale when the highway had been located on it. In the latter event, the state would be compelled to make a deal with the purchaser for use of the land or condemn it or refuse to move and further litigate with the purchaser the respective rights of both.

PARLEY SET HERE ON GRAIN RATES

What may be a new complaint before the Interstate commerce commission or a suit in Federal court attacking rates on grain from certain west Nebraska points to Omaha and east was discussed at Omaha by Chairman Duane T. Swanson, Deputy Attorney General H. Emerson Kokjer, Railway Commissioner Richard H. Larson and Rate Expert Harry C. King of the state railway commission in a conference with Charles B. Bowling representing the War Food administration of the U. S. department of agriculture. Mr. Bowling, on a trip west, will be in Lincoln next Thursday when a decision may be reached. These rates were lowered slightly in 1939 and again in 1940.

Grange Leader Is Pleased With Freight Report

B. V. Holmes, master of the State Grange, Broken Bow, called on members of the state railway commission on his return from a conference in Omaha with officials of the OPA as a member of the state advisory board. He first congratulated the state commission on victory in the ICC examiner's report advising lower rail rates on fresh meats and packing products in which the Grange took a prominent part.

"This decision, if upheld by the ICC, will really begin to get us somewhere," Holmes said. "It will help the livestock raisers and of course the farmers. The sales rings which opposed the complaint will not be hurt a bit. I am in a position to know this for a fact."

Mr. Holmes was not complimentary about the way ceiling prices had been fixed on agricultural products by the OPA. He said this had been done without consulting the actual farmers. For instance he said the same result could have been obtained by fixing the ceiling on meat without causing farmers a lot of trouble by fixing ceiling prices on farm cereals that go into finishing stock.

"Nebraska will have a whale of a corn crop," Mr. Holmes said. "With conditions as they are, it will help the farmers decidedly in an economic way. Wheat will be a little spotted."

A graduate of the University of Nebraska with a degree in mechanical engineering, he became associated with Boeing-Wichita in 1931, becoming chief engineer in 1937. Until recently, he regularly vented his enthusiasm for flying; now he is grounded for lack of time to fly.

Approves Changing Deed

Supreme court in the case of Clarence R. Fisher of Buffalo county to have a deed made out by Martin Fisher to the estate of James H. Fisher reformed to read to Clarence F. Fisher, executor of the estate of James H. Fisher, decided that the change be allowed. Martin Fisher contested on the ground the deed was made originally under fear that he would be evicted from the property which was his homestead.

In the case where James Kabertew of Scotts Bluff county appealed from a District court order enjoining him from draining off water in a natural lake so that it would flow over the land owned by Ada A. Hardened Marines Play Nursemaids To 5 Indian Children

HASTINGS, Neb., July 22—(AP)—Battle-hardened marines stationed at the Hastings naval ammunition depot have been playing nursemaids to three Sioux Indian boys and two girls, aged 3 to 12.

Sgt. Francis E. Bretschneider, in charge of a marine police detail, said he discovered the children living alone in a trailer and declared they were hungry and needed baths "pretty bad."

Through arrangements made by Maj. Gordon M. F. Chance, Bretschneider's commanding officer, the children were taken to the marine barracks, bathed, given a steak dinner and put to bed.

Hastings police said a Sioux woman, mother of three of the children and grandmother of the other two, had been picked up on vagrancy charges and is being held in jail.

While the marines, nearly all of whom have seen major battle action, have the situation "well in hand," Major Change said some other home will have to be found for the children.

State Convention Of Labor Chiefs To Open Sept. 11

OMAHA, July 22—(AP)—Nebraska's 1944 Federation of Labor convention, beginning at Norfolk Sept. 11, will be strictly devoted to union business, with political speeches barred, J. J. Guenther, Omaha, acting state president, said last night.

Originally scheduled for Lincoln, the 35th annual convention site was shifted to Norfolk by the federation's state executive board because of a lack of available facilities in Lincoln at convention time, Guenther announced.

Aiming to keep the meeting "as short and streamlined as possible," the program committee has not yet scheduled a final program, but is working to keep the convention addenda short enough so that business can be concluded by Sept. 13, Guenther added.

Nelle Eberhart, Noted Lyricist, Lincoln Visitor

. . . Wrote Famous Songs

Mrs. Nelle Richmond Eberhart, former Nebraskan, collaborator and librettist with Charles Wakefield Cadman, arrived in Lincoln Saturday for a summer sojourn in her native state.

Mrs. Eberhart, who says her best known lyrics are those of Cadman's principal songs, "At Dawning," "From the Land Of the Sky Blue Water" and "I Hear a Thrush At Eve," has recently written the lyrics of a patriotic chorus, "America, the Prophet's Dream."

"I don't believe that war conditions really inspire professionally fine music, but they certainly do set people singing, and rousing songs at that," Mrs. Eberhart asserted.

"We have just completed the war song 'Oracle' which is designed to inspire the patriotic fervor all Americans want and need in the music they are singing today."

Mrs. Eberhart's first interest is opera, and she was the librettist of the Cadman opera, "Shanewis," which was the first American opera to appear at the Metropolitan opera house for two seasons. She also wrote the lyrics for the "Garden Of Mystery," which was given at Carnegie hall, and "A Witch of Salem," which was produced by the Chicago Civic Opera company.

In 1932, Mrs. Eberhart collaborated with Cadman to write the first radio opera, "The Willow Tree," produced by NBC.

—BEATRICE CREAMERY—

Workers Back On Job After Pact Reached

Following a meeting at which a full settlement of grievances was reached, 80 workers at the Beatrice Creamery company's Lincoln plant who were on strike Friday have returned to their jobs and "all is satisfactory," A. H. Hoffman, local manager of the creamery company, announced Saturday.

The settlement, terms of which were not revealed, was reached Friday night at a meeting between Mr. Hoffman, union officials and William Houston, war labor board conciliator.

According to a report from union headquarters Friday, the dispute was not over wages but concerned, instead, a membership clause which was offered by the company in a proposed contract and rejected by the union.

The walkout, which began Thursday when 42 left their jobs, continued to grow in support Friday as the number of strikers reached 80. Some drivers, joining the movement early Friday, later returned to their jobs.

Workers in the creamery department who are union members are affiliated with local No. 608 of the General Drivers, Warehousemen and Helpers union.

Ripe Apples, Blossoms Appear On Same Tree

P. A. Newell, 519 South Thirtieth street, believes he may encountered something like perpetual motion in the production of apples. A tree on his property bears fruit almost ready to eat, yet, to his surprise, three days ago blossoms appeared also on the tree.

He is wondering, now, if he will have to clambor through snow to pick the later crop. Possibly, one of his friends speculated on seeing the phenomenon, someone crossed the tree with an orange tree, the latter bearing a perpetual cycle of blossoms, green and ripened fruit.

Selby Urges Care To Avoid Diphtheria And Smallpox

Sixty cases of diphtheria and five cases of smallpox have been reported in Nebraska since Jan. 1, 1944, Dr. C. A. Selby, state health director, announced Saturday, as he criticised the state's inhabitants for allowing the diseases frequent occurrence.

"None of these cases need to have occurred," said Dr. Selby. "Every parent has the opportunity of having every child in the family protected against both diphtheria and smallpox through the simple procedure of immunization. Thousands of Nebraska school children have been protected against these dread diseases of childhood."

Today medical authorities are using diphtheria tetanus toxoid, which also gives protection against lockjaw, explained the state health director. The physician finds those who need protection against diphtheria through a simple skin test, the Shick test.

Italian 'Prisoners' Please As Singers

SIDNEY, Neb., July 22—(AP)—Singing in Italian and without accompaniment, a group of former Italian prisoners of war attached to the 70th Italian quartermaster service company at the Sioux ordnance depot has organized a choir which has won the hearts of Sidney residents.

The men, taken prisoner during the North African campaign, originally were used as laborers at the depot. When Italy was accepted as a co-belligerent, they were released from the prisoner staus and attached to the quartermaster unit.

The choir was heard first at Mass in the Sidney Catholic church. All devout Catholics, they attend church regularly.

When the news of their singing got around, the Italians soon became in demand and to date have sung in several churches and before service clubs. At a recent concert in the Sidney municipal shell, one of the largest crowds ever to attend such a function was on hand.

The group is directed by an officer of the Italian army. Many of the songs have the same tune as American songs, but different words. "Roll Out the Barrel," for example, is called "Rosamunda."

Jap Pilots No Longer Up To Par, Declares Capt. Schmidt

Even though the natives of the South Pacific islands may be illiterate, it is a certainty that they know a good cigaret when they smoke it, according to Capt. Walter C. Schmidt, B-24 Liberator pilot, and veteran of 30 combat missions, who, with Mrs. Schmidt, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Schmidt, 2811 South Eleventh street.

Japanese cigarets are not cigarets, they are just ground weeds enclosed in paper, and Capt. Schmidt knows because he smoked one, but only halfway down. The natives will trade anything for one pack of American cigarets, which is worth far more than five dollars to them.

Walter Schmidt

Jap Pilots Poor.

"The Japanese pilots have hit rock bottom," Captain Schmidt said in an interview. "But prior to four months ago, they were plenty good." A connoisseur of planes, Captain Schmidt expressed the desire to fly one of the Jap Zeros; after the war, of course.

In his own words, Captain Schmidt "got rid of three planes."

His first plane was named "Lucky Strike." "Lucky Strike" met her death on the ground at Funafuti, one of the Ellis island group. Captain Schmidt was about to take off when the Japs came over and bombed the field.

Valiant Plane.

Plane number two was called "Brunhilde" and was well named since she was one of the most valiant planes on duty in the Pacific. Captain Schmidt flew her back to Hawaii, to be "junked," when the island newspapers learned that she was the oldest plane still in active service in the Pacific. This publicity caused army officials to decide to mend her, a project of five months' work, and she was returned to active service as a cargo plane.

The third plane met her death too early to be named. She was badly crippled in a crash landing on Makin island in January. The crew commanded by Captain Schmidt has six confirmed Jap planes to its credit.

Enlisted in 1940.

A graduate of Jackson high school, Captain Schmidt entered the army in 1940 and served with the signal corps until January of 1942 when he was transferred to the air corps. He was commissioned in October of 1942 and in March of this year, was promoted to the rank of captain.

After spending a week in Lincoln, Captain and Mrs. Schmidt will go to Nashville, Tenn., where they will visit Lt. Raymond Schmidt, who flies a B-25 and is the captain's brother. Then Captain Schmidt will report back to the Hawaiian islands for further assignment.

"I send you my heartiest congratulations on your victory," the president wired. "I am of course very happy to have you run with me. Let me know your plans. I shall see you soon."

The telegram of the president, who is traveling in the west, was marked "white house," having been transmitted through executive offices.

He did not personally meet Mr. Wallace, and voiced his regret. Wallace sent him a telegram of congratulations.

"I understand the vice-president left or I should have called on him," said Truman. "He is still the vice-president and I like him. The only thing that hurt me was that I had to defeat him."

Hessian Fly Has Damaged Wheat In Lancaster County

Considerable damage to the wheat crop in Lancaster county has been caused by the Hessian fly according to V. H. Peterson, county extension agent. Control of the fly by the delayed sowing of winter wheat, together with the plowing under of wheat stubble and cultivation to prevent the growth of volunteer wheat, which serves as a breeding place for the fly, has been recommended by Mr. Peterson.

The control of the Hessian fly is a community problem and not an individual one, as one piece of stubble ground with volunteer wheat can infest entire fields, Mr. Peterson said.

WHAT OF GERMANY?

Is the Germany of today in its essential character the same nation of people of the Germany of 1918? Under nazi rule has the German become toughened, more resilient, more imbued with the gambler's spirit to stake everything upon this present conflict? The answers to those questions provide the answer to the question which seemingly is uppermost in the minds of the American people: How long is the war with Germany going to last?

Abundant ground exists for the belief that, basically unchanged, German character would have been disposed to toss in the sponge in this present conflict weeks ago. Each day the hot breath on Germany's neck becomes intensified. The Prussian military clique, forever plotting and planning war, never has planned it that way. Whenever the going gets tough, when German soil itself is in danger, when the German armies are in grave danger of extincition, then always the Prussian military caste has sought a way out by the path of peace overtures.

It was conspicuous that recently General John J. Pershing, American commander-in-chief in the last war, meeting with De Gaulle, expressed the opinion that the fighting in Europe would reach a conclusion before the lapse of many months. General Pershing expressed the opinion that the European war was near its end.

It likewise was equally significant that General Dwight Eisenhower, the allied commander-in-chief in the European theater, within a few days issued an honest warning that much bitter fighting lay ahead, and undue optimism was not to be read into the developments projected by an unbroken series of allied successes. The difference in viewpoint did not represent any difference between the two distinguished American leaders in a personal sense. It suggested that General Pershing was thinking of Germany as he came to know the German army in a war fought 25 years ago, while General Eisenhower was thinking of the German foe met on the battlefields of Europe in the present conflict.

In this war, the allied command has found the German a relentless, well-trained, stubborn soldier.

And yet no one—perhaps, not even the German himself—fully knows the depth of fanaticism of nazi Germany. In all the thousands of columns of type that have been written about it, there are two views—the one expressed by nazi leaders themselves that Germany will fight on until the end and drag Europe down in ruins in the event she goes down; the other that human flesh can stand so much, and Germany is near the limit of her physical endurance. The recent attempt on Hitler's life and the subsequent apparent revolt by some high generals in the German army gives concrete evidence of the latter.

In the odds and ends of the cable dispatches, many enlightening items come to light that receive little or no attention. One dispatch from Normandy surprisingly said that the prisoners taken by the allies there were made up almost wholly of manpower drawn from the satellite or conquered countries. Two batches could not speak even a word of German. There were Russians, a few French, Poles and Romanians, who had fought hard against the allies at the point of pistols of German officers.

The chief differences in this present conflict and World War No. 1 rest upon the great progress which Hitler made in the first three years. He all but conquered Europe and Africa. It gave him enormous resources upon which to draw which German leadership did not have in World War No. 1. And, by the same token, Germany herself has suffered infinitely more in the homeland regions by virtue of allied air bombardment. Many of her cities are in ruins and her factory production obviously greatly diminished.

County Government

About the only branch of government that has stood practically still since the organization of the state of Nebraska is that of the counties. The state itself has had new constitutions and numerous amendments thereto, while the cities have been permitted to frame their own charters and amend them by vote of the electors. Members of the legislature are elected on a non-partisans basis, as are members of city councils and school boards. The initiative and referendum may be invoked in state or city affairs so that the state constitution may be amended and statutes may be adopted or repealed by petition and vote of the people and the same applies to the charter and ordinances of Lincoln and some other cities.

Nothing of the kind applies to the counties, however, members of the boards being elected on a partisan basis. From their action, within constitutional limits, there is no appeal. Thus, in a county having a board of three members, the overwhelming sentiment of the citizens may be thwarted by the action of two members of that board, and there is no remedy. This situation seems ridiculous, causing the thoughtful citizen to wonder: If a nonpartisan legislature, with initiative and referendum, is best for the state and also for the city, why would it not be best for the county also?

There is time to give these matters plenty of thought before the legislature meets next January.

MASS SLAUGHTER

On two separate occasions recently, Secretary of State Cordell Hull has directed attention to new steps of "terror" initiated by the nazi regime in Germany. In the main, this campaign of extermination ordered by Hitler and his party associates is directed against the Jew.

In Hungary it was said that more than a million Jews faced death as the nazi situation militarily became more desperate. It is one of the high crimes of modern civilization, bespeaking an intolerance, brutality and barbarism that could be expected of the dark ages. And while the Jew will bear the chief burden of this rising blood lust of Hitler, it is apparent that no race and no peoples in the occupied lands escape.

Again in Moscow, Marshal Stalin officially reported in an order of the day that the White Russian city of Pinsk, which the Soviet army recaptured, had been "barbarously wrecked" and virtually depopulated by the retreating Germans. Stalin said the German defenders of Pinsk had burned the "central part" of the city and had reduced all industrial installations to ruin. The population either was annihilated or driven off "to German capitivity." Only a few of the inhabitants succeeded in escaping by hiding in the woods. The entire Jewish population of Pinsk had been wiped out.

War never is a pretty thing, but modern war never has presented such stories of barbarism as have been presented in the cable dispatches of recent days. There was the little French village which was sacked and burned, and its people, slightly more than 800 of them, killed. There have been numerous similar reports to which Mr. Hull alluded, taking the pains to emphasize the developments in Greece had become revolting.

These are not the customary stories of atrocities which spring from every war. The traditional atrocity reports have been in circulation also, with claims that the Japs were executing captured American airmen, and that frequently wounded allied soldiers had been killed. The mass executions are a part of Hitler's threat that if he was to go down in defeat, he would drag Europe with him.

What is the answer to all of it? Some insist the allied terms of unconditional surrender should be modified. It reveals a naive attitude on the part of those who would place their faith in the leadership which this time cannot escape responsibility for the war. And a leadership instituting mass murder and the destruction of entire cities is a pretty flimsy limb upon which to hang the hopes of an enduring peace.

Charlie Bryan's Reasoning

Former Governor Charles W. Bryan, who has been taking an active role in politics, but spends his time looking after his interests and visiting with friends at his home in southeast Lincoln, comes forward with perhaps the most unusual comment upon President Roosevelt's announcement a week preceding his renomination for a fourth term that has appeared in any section of the country.

In a statement Mr. Bryan said:

"The announcement by President Roosevelt that his duty as a soldier requires him to heed the demand of the American people and remain at the head of our armed forces until a permanent victory is won will cheer the hearts of all liberty-loving people throughout the world. It will also be an assurance to parents of our soldiers that they will continue in safe and competent hands until a final success is achieved."

Mr. Bryan raises a point given little if any attention. It is the role which the president fills as a conciliator in the ranks of the allies. The relationships between China and Russia, and possibly between Russia and Britain, have been improved by the presence of Mr. Roosevelt. Frequently he has been the intermediary between allied leaders. Perhaps Mr. Dewey can fill this post effectively. But it has been filled, and it has been responsible to some extent to the united action of the allies so effective in the fighting at this time. It is a matter that in heated partisanship may be brushed aside, but, nevertheless, it merits thoughtful attention.

Southern Revolutions

Another revolution in South America—this time in Colombia. It was apparently quickly suppressed, being based upon nothing more appealing than the desire of a military faction to gain control of the government. That there should be so many disturbances of this kind south of the Rio Grande is mystifying to people of North America, but there is really no mystery about it. It is characteristic. Those countries, with the exception of Brazil, are Spanish, and Spaniards were never good or successful governors. Never for any considerable length of time has there been complete peace on their own peninsula, and their attempts to administer distant possession ever have been accompanied by dissatisfaction and rebellion.

Principal reason for these failures has been that Spain always has sought to conquer, rather than colonize, and has treated each new possession as a mine to be exploited rather than a field to be cultivated. The profits from such exploitation went to the rulers, and the system made the acquisition of power the ruling passion among those who might be able to attain it by fair means or otherwise. People in this country scarcely can imagine the lack of education among the masses to the south, especially those in the rural sections, who have comparatively little to do with the government of their countries. They merely follow their leaders, who as far as possible adhere to the old Spanish rule of exploitation.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The Great Adventure.

That which adventure seems to me,
To you quite commonplace may be.
—Smoky the Gray Fox.

Smoky, the young Gray Fox whose tail was ringed like that of a Raccoon, was smart enough to know that because of that tail he differed from others of his kind and on this account drew more attention. So, being smart and having his full share of Fox cunning, he was extra careful in what he did and where he went.

For several nights now he had followed his friends, Bobby Coon and his family, out from the Green Forest down to Aunt Sally's Woodhouse Night Club. That is what Farmer Brown's Boy called it, and it really was a sort of Night Club.

Smoky would sit just outside the cathole, which was the entrance, and watch Aunt Sally and her visitors. They came and went, Coons and Skunks, big ones, middle-sized ones and little ones. They helped themselves from big pans of food on the floor. Some of them even climbed into Aunt Sally's lap to eat from the pan she held. Sometimes Farmer Brown's Boy was there. Once there were several visitors. Then that scent, that Man smell, was so strong that it made Smoky uneasy and a bit fearful.

Now and then a Coon would bring a bit of food outside to eat it. Once in a while a piece would be dropped. Then Smoky moved with a quickness that usually got him the desired tidbit.

"Come on in," Bobby Coon would say. "It is perfectly safe in there."

"What are you afraid of?" Jimmy Skunk asked. "No harm ever comes to any one in there."

"That doesn't mean that no harm ever will," replied the young Fox.

"Pooh!" exclaimed Jimmy. "Who never ventures seldom gets. You are just cheating yourself."

Now there were two things that made Smoky hesitate. One was

"Come on in." Bobby Coon would say that hated human scent, the Man smell, that filled him with suspicion and fear. The other was that he had never been shut in by four walls. Just the idea of going in there gave him a trapped feeling.

But he couldn't stay away. At last he knew that he had learned all that he could learn just by watching. He waited until long after Aunt Sally had gone to bed. Two young Coons brushed past him and entered the woodhouse. He put his head inside. He waited. One of the Coons dropped a piece of bread near the entrance. Smoky came half way in, just far enough to reach it. He backed out and ate it. It had been sweetened. He licked his lips. Then he returned to the entrance. He went half way in this time.

He wait . A little way from him was a pan in which a few pieces of food remained. Smoky could resist no longer. He moved quickly to that pan. The young Coon growled and backed away. Smoky paid no attention to him. He took the biggest piece of bread and carried it outside to eat. He went back for another piece. He was filled with a sense of great adventure. This time he remained in until he had cleaned out the pan.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "The Human Body"

THE MIGRAINE HEADACHE

MIGRAINE, regular recurrent headache, sick headache, plagues about one out of every 200 people all their lives. It differs from all other headaches and can be recognized by four signs. (1) The victim begins to have "his," or "her," headaches (they are very possessive about their headaches: they can tell the migraine attacks from other ordinary headaches that may be due to bad air, overwork, eyestrain, etc.) at about the age of 15 to 20 and has them at recurrent periods, not necessarily regular periods for many years until change of life or old age stops them. (2) Aura, or premonition of the coming headache—light flashes, ringing in the ears, etc. (3) There is usually nausea and vomiting, which is why it is called sick headache. (4) A family history of migraine or allergy.

Innumerable remedies have been suggested for relief. Not one known to me works in every case.

Best Remedies.

Probably the best of the drugs is ergotamine tartrate. Best because it works on a larger proportion of people, than any other single remedy ever suggested. It is estimated that it gives relief to 90 per cent of migraine headaches. Its specificity is shown in the fact that it often induces a headache in those not subject to migraine.

Its action is generally ascribed to its ability to constrict the blood vessels inside the cranium. And theoretically this should work in migraine because the ache is pretty well proved to be due to dilatation of the blood vessels on one side of the head. This is shown by the flushing of one side of the face during an attack. And several examinations of the back of the eyes with an ophthalmoscope have shown the retinal vessels dilated in one eye.

Another remedy which has been suggested for migraine in the last two years is benzedrine sulphate. It has the same action as ergotamine in the constriction of blood vessels.

Benzedrine Taken Orally.

It is absorbed when taken by mouth and has a general constricting effect on blood vessels particularly those of the head. It has a pecular action on the brain cells, accelerating mental processes so that it is popular with those in the know who are going to take a final examination in something or other.

A favorite theory about migraine is that it is a manifestation of allergy. The hereditary nature of both complaints is suggestive. Undoubtedly many with a migraine background have their attacks precipitated by some food to which they are allergic

Remedies should be given under medical direction and I have purposely refrained from giving dosage or methods of administration.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

K. B. W.:—What is meant by a "compensatory pause" in the heart?

Answer: After the contraction of the heart muscle it has to rest in order to obtain oxygen from its blood vessels and to regain contractility—during this compensatory period it does not beat. It is simply the resting period between heart beats.

DEMOS PICK NEW BATTERY MATE

Henry Wallace and gotten away with it.

And in so doing, he would have sustained the charge of dictatorship, for it would have taken the imperious command in order to stem the tides, and, perhaps, a personal appeal directly to the convention.

In Good Sportsmanship.

When the final gavel had sounded, when the great convention hall was gaunt and bare of its crowds, when the hotels hailed a new nominee, and promptly forgot an old standard bearer, Henry Wallace showed his mettle. "Well, I'm glad," he said. "The cause of liberalism has not suffered by my defeat." It takes a pretty philosophical loser to say it and mean it, and those who saw Henry Wallace in Chicago anytime in the last 72 hours know that he honestly meant it. He would not have said it otherwise. From the time he reached Chicago Henry Wallace tossed all guile and political acumen to the winds and insisted upon being himself.

The Fighting Ground.

And he may have been speaking with true prophetic vision. Senator Truman is strong in Missouri. He will add strength in the border states of Kentucky and Tennessee. He will alleviate a delicate situation in the old south. In New York state, Illinois, Delaware and Indiana he will impart more strength than Henry Wallace could have contributed. The states Wallace had been expected to help were already lost. Only a sharp reversal of popular sentiment will regain them.

Chance For Everybody.

That final convention session was unique and historic. It witnessed twenty-nine nomination and elaborate seconding speeches, as well as many short ones. It turned loose three demonstrations. In the battle for the vice presidency there was all the fire of a presidential nomination, and then on the first roll call there were actually sixteen men who received large or small numbers of votes. That hasn't happened since Noah ran around in rompers. There was humor and wit, and satire, and chivalry. There was everything in the book, and some things that are not in the book.

Picking a Winner.

The lone Nebraska vote for Harry Truman was cast by Clarence L. Clark of Lincoln. By strange co-incidence Clark was one of the three Nebraskans who voted for Henry Wallace in 1940, when the remainder of the delegation plunked it down for John Bankhead. The four Wallace votes were supplied by Hans Jensen, Gene O'Sullivan, Mrs. Evelyn Ryan, and Edgar Howard. The others voted for Senator Barkley. The Nebraskans never changed. The final recording of the second ballot showed Clark the lone Nebraska supporter of Truman.

Another Roosevelt.

Seated near us was another Roosevelt, Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, a gracious Virginian. As the wife of a son of the late Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, a Virginia democrat, married into a republican family. She said she could never completely foreswear her democratic faith, and observed that she was to be classified as an independent democrat. Throughout the tumultuous two days she followed every development of the convention with an eagerness and interest that overlooked no detail of the historic struggle. And beside her was Frances Perkins and her secretary.

Homeward Bound.

Mrs. Wallace had been in the same nearby box the night before. She was not present the final session. The organ pealed its final strains, the lights dimmed, the great hall emptied itself as rapidly as the thousands crowded it to capacity. Another convention had become history. And we were glad after forty-eight hours of nearly continuous attendance and writing. Homeward the crowds swirled to await the chill of fall for the impending presidential battle.

Developments Abroad.

There has been this great news from Germany and Japan. It was noticeable that in London the public was slow to attempt analysis, and until the full facts become established America will do well to wait.

JUST FOLKS

LETTER FROM JOE.

Joe writes: "Time was we talked as you,
Of Catholic, Protestant and Jew;
Thought difference of creed and birth
Meant also difference of worth.
Time was—and I must tell you this—
Our minds were sick with prejudice,
But since in peril we have stood,
We have discovered brotherhood.

"Who shares an open raft at sea
Soon learns how brave his mates can be;
Just what they will or will not do,
Though Catholic, Protestant or Jew.
All difference of caste and creed
Is dropped when courage is the need!
Then one and all, or black and white,
In purpose and in prayer unite.

"When we get back 'tis this we'll know:
Man's worth is of the inner glow;
Not of his spoken creed or prayer,
But of his willingness to share;
His willingness of mind and heart
Whate'er the task to do his part.
For when in peril men have stood
They've lived and practiced brotherhood."

Murder at CANDLEWOOD

by Jane Bunker Lumley

Chapter 24.

Dirk asked, grimly, "Moira, that night we followed you to the Cove, and you escaped back to the house underground, did you know about Josh's body in the tunnel?"

Moira's lips were stiff. "Yes," she said. "I did. And I reasoned that Gil hadn't had an opportunity to dispose of his body. And that night I thought you were Gil! I had discovered the tunnel from the Cove to the shop and what was hidden there, a few days before that. I found traces on the shop end of the tunnel where the door had been changed to swing into the tunnel instead of into the shop. The row of barrels stacked in there provided an effective barrier. I suppose Gil had used the tunnel for secret trips to the Cove to deliver information to spies posing as fishermen, before he hit on the more direct method of shipping information in the candles."

"Why," Spring asked, frowning over all the questions pushing into her mind, "did you walk at night? Were you afraid of Gil, Aunt Dru?"

"I was afraid for the others in the house," Drusilla answered, her blue eyes bleak. "I tried to keep watch on Gil. I knew he was leaving the house at night, but I couldn't find how. I didn't know about the tunnel."

"Did . . . did you see Jo?" Spring faltered helplessly.

Drusilla paled. "I was in the front parlor when it happened. I heard you go through the hall. After that I couldn't talk."

Spring was aghast. "You thought I did it!"

Drusilla shook her head wearily. "No, Spring, no! But Gil knew you were downstairs, I didn't know where he saw you, but he did. He had the perfect hold he wanted on me after that. One word from him and police would have held you."

Spring trembled with a sudden recollection of horror. "Oh! Then it wasn't Moira on the stairs! It was Gil!"

"No," Moira corrected, "I was the one on the stairs! I had been down to the Cove to contact the Coast Guard ship off shore. I think Gil was bluffing about seeing you, Spring, it wa sjust a threat to Drusilla that happened to strike true."

"What," Justen spoke now, "did Jo mean by those three words she tried to tell us, 'the beaver moved'?"

Dirk looked at Moira. She said: "I knew. But my own information was linked with the other serious problem concerning many more lives, the leakage of shipping and production and troop stationing news that Gil was sending Axis agents in England. You see, Jo had apparently wandered down into the back parlor that night, sleeplessness, or something. We all know she loved Elvan, that was what caused her antagonism toward Spring. In the dark, Gil didn't kno wanyone was in the back parlor, and the tunnel we used tonight from the back parlor to the shop, was the passageway Gil used in his night trips. He came through the entrance back of the suit of armor."

"The suit of armor!" Spring echoed.

"Yes. I discovered that one day when Gil and Theron had gone into town. You know how the armor is set in that little niche in the east wall? Well, I discovered there was something odd about the way the armor was mounted against the wall itself, but that the section of the wall is hollow and opens into the suit of armor. The armor had been welded in such a fashion that the front section swung open, like a mummy case. All Gil had to do to see if the coast was clear each time was to move the beaver. And that night he saw Jo."

"The Beaver!" Justen ejaculated. "That's what Jo said! What are you talking about"

"That's what Mrs. Manning discovered tonight," Dirk said heavily. "She had the inspiration to look in the dictionary and found that a beaver, beside being an animal, is the part of the headgear of a suit of armor, the thing we would call a visor."

Spring grasped it all slowly. There was so much to comprehend. There was so much that was evil and sinister. So much of horror crowded into one terrible week.

"But," she asked, "how could Gil have known that Great Aunt Adelaide knew?"

"Because," Dirk said grimly, "he surprised Mrs. Manning in the very same way he did Jo. By a superhuman effort fostered by her determination to catch Jo's killer, she had propelled herself into he rwheel chair and across the hall down into the back parlor tonight."

Spring remembered the gray heap on the couch and her throat ached suddenly. "Aunt Adelaide went in there!"

Dirk nodded. "Gil stepped out, carelessly, and Adelaide saw him. He killed her and then pushed the chair back into her room. Then he signaled for Theron at the shop and arranged for Theron to ring the bell after Gil had time to escape up the back stairs to his room. But he made a bad mistake. While it was possible for Mrs. Manning to reach the bell cord from the wheel chair, it wasn't possible for her to have sat where she did and drop the dictionary, fifteen feet at the other end of the room, on the floor beneath the hurricane lamp! And the dictionary had the page turned down at the definition of the word 'beaver'."

May Reassess York County '44 Livestock

. . . 51 Pct. Below Value

Deputy Tax Commissioner H. A. Lyon was in York Friday scanning the records of the county assessor with a view of entering an order on the valuation of livestock. It appeared that young calves had been counted with grown stock increasing numbers so that the assessed value reported to the state board of equalization was 51 per cent under the agreed average. Lyon's trip followed a hearing by the state board Thursday.

The board directed Chase county tax officials to increase the value of real estate by 20 per cent, and Keith county officials to increase real estate by 10 per cent, to bring them into the 20 per cent below or over range of the state average.

Knox county officials were directed to increase the assessed values of cattle in four classes by 15 percent and Howard county to increase wheat assessments by 10 percent to bring them in line with other counties.

Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company reported that its real and personal property had been raised $94,240 by the Douglas county assessor which it ought to have considered in fixing value of its franchise which the board tentatively held at $75,000. L. R. Doyle, attorney for the Lincoln City Lines filed protest against the valuation of $25,000 tentatively fixed on the company's franchise.

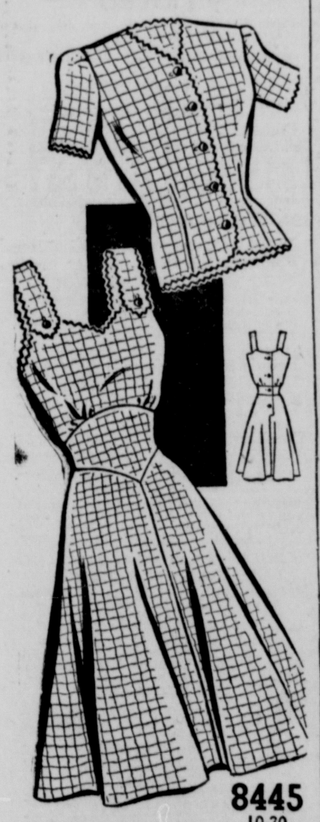

Argument over value of the South Omaha Terminal railway went over until next Tuesday.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By. Prof. J. D. Flint

Some hunters and a pack of hounds were chasing a fox from hither to yon. One hound spotted the fox beside a fence which ran east and west. The dog was in an open field 100 feet south of the fox. At the same instant the fox spotted the dog and simultaneously they broke into a run, the fox going east along the wall and the dog shifting his course to always head directly for the fox. If the dog traveled 30 feet per second and the fox 20 feet per second, how far did the fox get before he was caught?

Study Municipal Payroll Shows Scale Differences

. . . IN VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS

A study of municipal payrolls has revealed that although park department laborers are being paid 55 cents an hour, there are men in the street and paving repair-sewer division who receive 60 cents. It was because of this difference that a delegation of park workers asked D. L. Erickson, director in charge of parks, to place park workers on the same pay basis as those in other municipal divisions.

The park workers also have asked for an increase that will place men in other pay brackets on the same level as those in the streets and paving repair.

There are 68 workers in the park division, 18 in paving repair, and 52 on the streets.

Comparison Shows Differences.

A comparison of the pay reveals that in the parks there is one who receives 74 cents an hour, another gets 70½, one 68½, and one 65½.

One paving repair and sewer employee receives 76 cents an hour. Four are paid 70½ cents, and one 65½ cents.

In the streets one receives 86½ cents an hour. Ten are paid 76 cents, three 70½, four 65½ cents each.

In their complaint to Mr. Erickson, the spokesmen for the delegation alleged that in the parks some of the laborers were used in the operation of tractors or trucks, and mowers. For this, it was pointed out, streets, and paving repair men receive 60 cents an hour, while park employes are paid only 55 cents.

Divisions In Departments.

In the streets, and paving repair divisions these men are known as laborers and motor equipment operators. It also was learned authortatively, that they are younger men, compared to some who are employed in the parks. There is one "pan man" in the employment of the street department, who receive 60 cents an hour. Only recently, people living in the vicinity of his residence, complained that he was "not on the job the required number of hours, and was working in his garden on city time."

Inquiry developed that he worked the required time at 60 cents an hour, starting at 4 o'clock in the morning. It also revealed that another worker has been receiving 60 cents because of the quality of his work—laborer—and the added fact that although he had been offered more pay than that, he refused the lure, preferring to remain on a job he knew was permanent to leaving for employment which may end after the war.

$214,802,259 Deposits In State Banks

. . . Highest Since '28

Deposits in state banks June 30, 1944, totaling $214,802,259, were the highest recorded for the last 15 years, State Banking Director Wade Martin announced today.

The June report showed deposits almost tripling the pre-Pearl Harbor total of $77,055,283 deposited in state banks June 30, 1941. The increase of $18,982,549 in deposits during the last six months sent the total soaring to a high unsurpassed since the flush days of 1928.

Loans Greatly Decreased.

Loans in state banks were $33,891,636 at the close of business June 30, 1944, which showed a decrease of $6,395,526 in comparison with loans recorded six months previously. Mr. Martin pointed to the loan decrease as evidence that Nebraska farmers and business men are well off financially and paying off old indebtedness.

Banks over the state purchased $23,534,642 in government bonds during the last one-half year to increase their total from 84 million to $107,703,416. Total resources of banks were $229,832,708, which showed an increase of $19,679,275 in comparison with resources of banks were $229,832,-

Total capital accounts, in capital stock, surpluses and undivided profits, were $14,984,190 on June 30, 1944, which showed a gain of $712,811 in the six months period.

Wheat Prices Drop Sharply

CHICAGO, July 22—(AP)—

Belief that internal strife may result in the sudden collapse of Germany prompted liquidation of grain futures today and all markets showed a heavy untone.

In late trading rye dropped to the lowest points in over two weeks and seven to eight cents below last week's highs. The liquidation was general, the market ran into stop loss orders and prices dropped sharply.

Wheat futures were under hedging pressure but most of the losses were attributed to the foreign situation and prospects for a large Canadian crop. Commission houses sold the distant contracts and they were relatively heaviest. Several leading houses bought wheat on resting orders but the volume of their purchases was not large. At one time September wheat dipped to the $156 loan level.

Independent firmness of July oats indicated shorts were covering in preparation for the close of trading in that contract today. Available supplies of cash oats are small.

At the close wheat was ⅝ to 2½ cents lower than yesterday's finish, July, $1.57¼@1 55¾. Oats were 1¼ lower to 1¼ higher, July 81½@⅛. Rye was 1½ to 2½c lower, July $1 07¼@1.07. Barley was off ⅛ to ⅜, July $1 25¾.

Early Gains Are Erased

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—

The stock market suffered another stumble today when an early half-hearted recovery sortie failed to attract a worthwhile following and fresh selling broke out in virtually all groups.

Dealings, quiet at the start, picked up momentum when offerings expanded. Initial small gains were erased in most cases and replaced with losses of fractions to two points or so near the close. Transfers ran to around 700,000 shares for the two hours. Rails, steers, motors and pivotal industrials were under pressure. There were scattered comebacks toward the last.

Prominent on the offside were Santa Fe, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, American Telephone and Standard Oil (N. J.)

Bonds dipped with stocks.

Agronomists End Six Day Discussion

The regional conference of agronomists ended Saturday following a six day discussion of common problems. Decisions were reached to extend thorough training in agronomy to zone technicians in order that they may instruct new field men, without additional expense, and to co-operate with state colleges and extension services now working with machine manufacturers and seed producers.

Agronomists in the region also plan work with various agencies and farmers in developing crop rotation which is considered so essential in successful soil and water conservation and in the maintenance of soil utility.

The opinion was generally held that the needs of the new type of farming, now becoming prevalent, demanded the close cooperation and help of men trained in the field of agronomy.

Demos Negro Plank Labeled 'Splinter'; GOP's Unsatisfactory

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—The national association for the advancement of colored people says the part of the democratic platform concerning negroes could be "best characterized as a splinter" rather than a plank.

"Badgered by professional bigots from the south and dictated to by northern political machines more interested in votes than principle, the democratic mountain labored and brought forth a mouse of evasion," the association said in a statement.

Neither the republican nor democratic platform on the negro "is satisfactory to intelligent negroes," the statement added.

First Oats At Polk Averages 30 Bu. Acre

POLK, Neb., July 22—(AP)—The first 1944 grain to be brought to the elevator here was oats, combined by Gilbert Benson, testing 28 and yielding 30 bushels an acre, manager Carl Steelquist said.

Very few farmers planted wheat last fall because of the lack of moisture, Steelquist declared, and added those who did are getting a small yield of poor quality. The yield and quality of barley in this area also has been poor, Steelquist said.

Allies Bogged In Mud

Operations Held To Local Attacks

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, July 22 — (AP) — Continuing rains mired the big allied armies in the mud of France today, holding troop movements to a minimum everywhere, supreme headquarters announced, but the Germans threw in small-scale, local attacks in the last 24 hours that cost them 14 tanks destroyed.

Headquarters identified Gen. Paul Hausser, veteran of the German invasion of France and of the Balkan, Russian and Italian campaigns, as the commander of the seventh German army "opposing the American force." It did not reveal whether other nazi forces than the seventh army were pitted against the doughboys.

The limited-scale German attacks developed yesterday and last night, without success, on both the British and American sectors in Normandy.

Air Support Stalled

There were no air operations from Britain today due to weather.

The morning communique, only five words long, said simply "there is nothing to report."

The only change reported was the loss Esquay, southwest of Caen between the Orne and Odon rivers. The supreme command's report did not state whether the loss was due to German action or whether the town merely was abandoned to no man's land because it is in low ground.

Conflicting Reports

In the lull the supreme command checked battle reports and found that conflicting field dispatches had led to some erroneous beliefs which were passed on to the press conferences.

The recheck showed the Germans still held Maltot between the Orne and Odon, that it is not clear whether St. Martin De Fontenay is in allied or German hands, that Noyes still is held by the Germans as is nearby Monts, and that the Germans still are astride the Bayaux-St. Lo road at Berigny.

Yanks Slash Ahead

from a flagship at Guam that all Japs and shore defenses were gouged out of the landing areas by some of the 10,000 tons of explosives spread over the island through 17 straight days by warships and planes. In the last eight minutes before the first Yanks landed Thursday, the warships alone poured more than 60 tons of exploding steel each minute on the enemy.

"We simply blasted the Japs to hell out of there and up into the trees," said Rear Admiral Richard W. Conolly, commanding operations.

Resistance Stiffening Inland.

The Yanks encountered stiffening resistance inland. But they had tanks to lead them, artillery at their backs. Offshore, battleships, cruisers and destroyers held unchallenged command of the seas. Above, American planes apparently monopolized the skies for Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' communiques made no mention of the enemy airforce.

Henry characterized the Guam undertaking as the smoothest amphibious operation of the Pacific war. Less than four hours after the landings, the beaches "were crammed with incoming necessities of warfare like ammunition, rations, water and medical supplies and gasoline."

Tokyo radio's claim of "tremendous losses inflicted by our forces" was refuted by a Nimitz communique last night stating "preliminary estimates indicate that our casualties are moderate."

Few Dead Yanks

"Dead Americans were hard to find," he wrote.

Nimitz' communiques last night listed a new strike by navy land-based Liberators, presumably operating from Saipan, at Chichi Jima and Haha Jima which are in the Bonin islands a little over 600 miles south of Tokyo. A Jap destroyer was among the targets bombed.

In the southwest Pacific, bombers in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command area added to their amazing score of Nipponese ships sunk or damaged. They sank an oil-laden ship and two coastal vessels off northwest Dutch Guinea and left another coastal vessel in flames off Timor.

was commanded by Com. Frank Wesley Ferno, jr.

At the time of her loss her skipper was Lt. Com. Albert H. Clark, listed as missing in action.

The Tullibee was one of the newer submarines. She was commissioned in February, 1943, and was under command of Com. Charles F. Brindupke.

Commissioned in 1940.

The Trout was commissioned in November, 1940, and was one of the better known submarines of the fleet.

She was credited at the time her crew was awarded the presidential unit citation in May, 1943, with having destroyed 31,500 additional tons, including a hostile aircraft carrier.

The total amount of gold, silver and negotiable securities carried out of Corregidor aboard the Trout never has been disclosed. It included vast amounts of gold, silver and securities of the Philippine commonwealth gathered together by High Commissioner Francis B. Sayre and taken to Corregidor.

Truman Nominated

Frank Hague of Jersey City, who like their politics uncomplicated

The Kelly-Flynn-Hague combination, aided by National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, won in a see-saw battle that Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, had predicted would find Wallace victorious.

South Swings to Truman.

The south, led by Oklahoma, which made the first break toward Truman, provided in a pinch the necessary votes to put the Missourian over after a first ballot on which Wallace, who remained in a downtown hotel, rolled up 429½ votes. Truman had 319½ on the initial count and the rest were divided between 14 alsorans.

Down on the sardine-packed floor of the convention, with sweating delegates mopping their brows around him, Senator Burnet Maybank of South Carolina gave reporters an example of the south's viewpoint just after the first results were announced.

Said Maybank: "We're going to anybody who can beat Wallace. We may support Truman on the next ballot."

The breaks came fast on the second roll call, and the futile din of gallerites—some of whom were University of Chicago and Northwestern university students too young to vote—could not stem the tide against Wallace.

Wallace Supports Ticket.

Tossed aside after a four-year Washington career of presiding over the senate, attending cabinet sessions and directing foreign economic warfare until relieved by the president, the Iowan had only kind words for the new ticket.

"Of course," said the man who will be vice president until next January, he would support the ticket.

"The cause of liberalism has been advanced," he added. He had pitched his campaign for a place on the November ballot largely on the convention that he appealed to the "liberal" and labor elements of the country.

CIO's Hillman, too, was philosophical about the outcome, telling reporters:

"It's a good ticket. We were for Wallace, but if we hadn't been for him, we would have been for Truman. He has a very good record."

Hannegan Pleased.

Generously expansive, the party leading victors were willing to let by-gones remain that way.

"It's a grand ticket—we've got the best candidate of all," exclaimed Hannegan, whose reelected as chairman at a national committee meeting today virtually was assured by the outcome.

"We're all democrats now," said Kelly. "The CIO had a right to be for Wallace. Sometimes they were a little out of line, but that's all right."

"All's well that ends well," quipped Flynn.

Truman, who came up from a Missouri county judgeship 10 years ago when the Kansas City Pendergast organization cast about for a senatorial candidate, told the convention tht he was perfectly willing to undertake "the very great responsibility" it had bestowed upon him and to "continue the effort to shorten the war and win the peace under the leadership of our great president, Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Later, after most convention delegates had gone home, he told a press conference that he will resign immediately as chairman of the war investigating committee, will hold on to his senatorial post "until I am sworn in as vice president, will leave it up to "the commander-in-chief and the democratic national committee' the part he will play in the campaign.

Ruthless Purge

generally believed there that naval units at Kiel and Stettin had rebelled. The Brazzaville radio reported unrest among naval units in Norwegian ports and said an organization called "The Fraternal Association of All German Sailors" appeared to be behind the movement.

A Madrid dispatch said one report from a German embassy source there indicated that certain army elements had revolted in southern Germany and that fighting still was continuing.

Dr. Robert Ley, nazi labor chief, declared in a broadcast address this morning to German armament workers that the fact Hitler "was saved does not mean the battle is won," then added:

"While German workers labor 12 and 16 hours without a Sunday or holiday, the idiotic nobility has nothing better to do than plot against our fuehrer."

Word emerged through Sweden of mass arrests in Berlin with large forces of SS (elite guard) troops ringing the capital and patrolling the streets in ormored cars.

While the nazis, through various broadcasts, claimed to have suppressed the revolt with at least two of the alleged ringleaders dead—Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, and the Count Von Stauffenberg, accused by Hitler of placing the bomb—a voice on the Frankfurt radio wave length, purporting to be that of an officer in the Wehrmacht, announced this morning that "action is continuing."

Administrators Oppose Whiskey Dividend Payment

Liquor administrators of the United States at their session at Duluth last week passed resolutions opposing payment of dividends by distillers in whisky, instead of money, said J. A. McEachen, chairman of the Nebraska liquor control commission, just returned from the convention.

"The convention was decidedly opposed to this practice as a means of by-passing state control," McEachen said. "A number of large distilling firms have begun this method of distribution out state laws are sufficient to prevent it, I believe."

Mr. McEachen's desk blossomed with a huge spray of gladioli Saturday morning. They were sent from Omaha, he said, with a card bearing no name but merely with "best wishes." He was elected president of the national association of liquor administrators at Duluth. He has been on the state commission here nine years.

Mrs. McMaster Files Funeral Home Protest

Mrs. J. Lloyd McMaster filed a protest Friday with the city clerk against granting a permit that will allow the operation of a funeral home at 1245 H street. Mrs. McMaster owns a duplex across the street, at the northwest corner of Thirteenth and H streets. The complaint was filed late, it was explained, because she and Mr. McMaster were out of the city during the hearings on the proposal for a permit, which have been held by the city council and the zoning board.

At the hearing before the council on July 9, recommendation by the zone board that the permit be granted, was laid over until July 24. In the meantime, members were to study conditions in the vicinity of the proposed home so that they could act more intelligently when final action is taken.

Four Survive In City Title Pursuit

—SEMI-FINALS ON THE SCHEDULE TODAY—

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

THE golf mills continued to grind their grist Friday at Lincoln Country club and into the hopper was deposited the names of the four semi-finalist survivors in the race for the city championship of 1944.

In consequence, a quartet of club-swingers comprising Don Spomer, Bill Malone, Erv Rucklos and Lieut. Matt Palacio were scheduled to be in action Saturday, both morning and afternoon, in 36-hole competition, with Spomer taking on Malone and Rucklos battling Palacio. From this four will emerge the duo that will tangle in Sunday's titular finals at 36 holes. Time—10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m.

Although the Palacio-Frank duel attracted the lion's share of the gallery, in which the army air field officer squeezed out a victory on the twentieth hole, the snappiest golf of the afternoon rattled from the clubs of Bill Malone, one of the younger members of the capital city links brigade.

Under Par Going Out.

Bill conquered Dick Russell, 5 and 4, by dint of going four-up on the first nine in a one under-par exhibition for the first half of the 18-hole journey.

Malone faltered on only one hole, taking a bogey-6 on the par-5 eleventh hole, but he played faultless golf the remainder of the round and finished even with par.

The Palacio-Frank match was no sooner under way than the air field lieutenant accumulated a two-up advantage at the end of five holes. Emil quickly steadied, after canning a long putt on No. 6. He lost No. 7, but captured the eighth and ninth holes, also the eleventh with a birdie-4.

Emil Takes the Lead.

Emil shot into the lead by winning No. 12, but Palacio bagged the next two holes, contributing a birdie on No. 14, whereupon Emil evened the count on No. 15 and went one-up on No. 16 with a birdie-4 to Matt's bogey-5. They halved No. 17, but Palacio rallied on the home hole by downing a 12-foot putt for a par-4, while Emil blew an eight-footer.

All even for 18 holes, they halved No. 19, after which the air field lieutenant bucketed another long putt to birdie No. 20 and clinch his victory.

Don Downs the Captain.

Youthful Don Spomer disposed of Capt. Fries of the army air field in one of the afternoon's tensest battles. Two down at the end of 11 holes, Don spurted to win Nos. 12 and 13 and even the count.

The youngster followed with a par-3 on the short thirteenth while the captain was blowing himself to a bogey-4. After the pair had halved Nos. 15 and 16, Don's par-5 on the long No. 17 was one stroke better than the captain's effort, and the "kid" of the tournament had the match in the bag by a 2 to 1 margin.

Erv Rucklos, city champ of two years ago, and Hank Strauch battled on fairly even terms during the first nine, Erv rounding the turn for home with a one-up margin, but a par-3 by Rucklos to Hank's four on No. 10 put the latter two down.

Rucklos Four Up.

They halved No. 11 in par fives, but Erv parred the next hole while Hank could do no better than a bogey. A birdie-4 on No. 13 put Erv four-up and when Strauch could do no better than get an even break on the next two holes, Rucklos was in by a margin of 4 and 3.

In today's semi-finals, the form sheet indicates that Spomer and Malone are even in the dope, whereas Lieut. Palacio, whose Friday golf scarcely was up to normal, figures to shove Rucklos out of the running, thereby to qualify for Sunday's final championship battle.

Tribe Perks Up In Flag Race

—Bagby's Return Tonic To Club—

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—Jim Bagby who once vowed he'd never pitch another game for Cleveland under Manager Lou Boudreau today stood out as the man who may boost the Tribe into the thick of the pennant scrap.

When Bagby joined the merchant marine after last season, he said he was through with Cleveland. But, after being rejected by the draft earlier in the week, the 17-game winner of '42 and '43 hustled to the Tribal wigwam and last night stopped Philadelphia with five hits as Boudreau's Indians took a 4-1 decision over Luke Hamlin to sweep the series.

YANKS GET EVEN BREAK.

While the Yankees and Browns took turns knocking one another's brains out, without disturbing St. Louis' two-game margin, Cleveland and Detroit made motions toward serious contention. The St. Louis-New York series ended yesterday when Atley Donald outpitched Al Hollingsworth for an 8-2 Yank victory and an even break of the four games.

Detroit took four straight from Washington, all by one-run margins, to keep the pace with Cleveland in a fourth-place tie, 1½ games back of Boston and 5½ off the top.

Boston lost ground by falling before Chicago, 5-3, for the second time in 14 starts.

CARDS BLANK GIANTS.

Harry Brecheen shut out the New York Giants, 5-0, to help the Cardinals move another step toward an early flag in the National. Johnny Hopp and Ray Sanders spanked home runs at the expense of Harry Feldman and Ace Adams.

Brooklyn's long losing slump finally dumped the Dodgers into the basement, tied with Boston, after dropping a 3-2 game to Cincinnati.

Frank Zak's three hits were a big factor in Pittsburgh's 5-3 night victory over Philadelphia.

Dom Dallessandro's two-run homer in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie for Chicago's 4-2 margin over the Braves.

Race Oval Oddities

All Kinds Strange People And Things Can Be Seen Where the Horses Run.

By PAT ROBINSON.

NEW YORK, July 22—(INS)—You can find more strange people, incidents and animals at a race track than you can spot even at a political convention.

For instance. A shabbily dressed drunk staggered up to me before the first race at Jamaica yesterday and asked me if "I knew anything good." I assured him I didn't know a thing.

"Okay, pal," he said owlishly, "then you can take a tip from me. Play Smiling Lass. Can't miss."

I laughed and moved away from him. To my surprise, I saw him weave his way up to the $50 straight window, pull out a roll big enough to choke a giraffe and buy a ticket on Smiling Lass.

I felt sorry for the poor dope and I kept on feeling sorry for him until Smiling Lass breezed home in front to pay $68 for every two bucks invested.

Queer Case of Stir Up.

That old saying of the turf—"Horses for courses"—seems to apply especially to Stir Up, one of the better horses in the east. Stir Up seems able to win only at Jamaica, but unfortunately he can't carry the track around with him.

And there are also horses for jockeys and vice versa. For instance, nobody except Don Meade does much with old Early Delivery. He has ridden the horse 31 times. Don, who is something of a "Peck's bad boy" of racing, may be a deuce to the powers that be in racing, but he's an ace to Early Delivery, which likes him and never fails to respond with a fine effort when Don has the leg up on him.

Fondness For Children.

Horses like children and animals about them. Larry Daly had a horse named Nip and Tuck a few years ago which was very fond of Larry's 26-months-old daughter, Flo. Every morning after his workout, Larry would put his baby daughter on the horse's back and—unassisted, mind you—she would ride him back to the stable. Never once did that horse ever try to gallop or even trot with the baby on his back! He'd walk quietly and slowly and wait patiently at the stable until somebody took the baby down and then he'd nudge her playfully with his nose.

Collection of Pets.

George Odom, who trains for Marshall Field and others, has a fine collection of pets at his stables, including dogs, a goat, cats, ducks and chickens and now he's on the hunt for a goose.

And George Coburn trains a good horse called Army Rest which makes Pete Cioguerdi, the groom, share his luncheon ham on ryes with mustard. And he also likes a nice tomato sandwich, to say nothing of cookies, sugar buns and candy.

Yes, I'd say that horses are a lot smarter than the people who bet on them.

Hastings Navy Club v. Stop Nut

The Hastings Naval Depot baseball nine invades the capital city Sunday for a 3 o'clock exhibition game at Muny with Stop Nut club of the Lincoln Industrial hardball league.

Stop Nut is set to avenge the defeat it took from the Navy lads last week, but will have to go some to stop the hitting which plastered the Lincoln Air Field Wings 11 to 4 last week.

A 6 o'clock Industrial league game between Cushmans and the Air Field Civilians will fill out Sunday's program.

The Navy nine will visit Lincoln again Thursday for a game with the Lincoln Legion Blues.

Suspends Pitcher

Prexy of American League Cracks Down On Potter For Illegal Use of Spitball.

CHICAGO, July 21—(AP)—President Will Harridge of the American league today placed Pitcher Nelson Potter of the league-leading St. Louis Browns under suspension, pending receipt of a report from Umpire Cal Hubbard of Potter's alleged use of a spit-ball.

Umpire Hubbard removed Potter in the fifth inning of the St. Louis-New York Yankee game in St. Louis Thursday night after a prolonged argument with Luke Sewell, manager of the St. Louis club. Hubbard charged that Potter was using a "spitter."

Harridge said the penalty, if Hubbard's findings were correct, would be a 10 days suspension.

Wings In Running For Tourney Title

FREMONT, Neb., July 22—(AP)—The Grand Island AAF and the Lincoln AAF Wings, who meet in a first-round game here Tuesday, were tabbed by state Baseball Commissioner Jim Johnson today as favorites to win the 1944 state semi-pro baseball championship.

However, Johnson said, "a loss Tuesday will not hurt the chances of either team very much, since this is a double elimination tourney and teams have been known to lose their opener and come back to take the championship."

The other first-round game has the Bruning AAF Baflers and the Bruning Motor Pool team meeting at Fairbury. Elkhorn and Fremont, which drew byes in the first round, will play second round tilts Thursday and Friday against winners of the two openers.

Byron Has Hot Round

Nelson Shoots a 67, Five Under Par, to Lead Pros In Tourney at Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 22—(INS)—Byron Nelson of Cleveland and Johnny Geertsen of Fort Douglas were favored today to win the $2,500 Utah open golf tournament after turning in identical scores of 67—five under par—to share medalist honors yesterday.

Dopesters had figured it would be a two-man tourney—Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Philadelphia vs. Nelson. Entries in the tourney, played on the 6,575-yard Fort Douglas course, numbered 121, including some of the nation's top-flight golfers.

One stroke behind the leaders were Tony Penna, Dayton, Ohio, and Leonard Dodson, Kansas City, Mo., with 68 each. McSpaden, who won Thursday's pro-amateur match, carded a creditable 69 for fifth place.

The tournament, over 72 holes, will continue today and tomorrow, when 36 holes will be played.

Big Leagues Object To St. Louis Plan

NEW YORK, July 22—(AP)—Fresh ammunition for shooting the breeze: Report from St. Louis says visiting major league clubs are peeved at the Cards' and Browns' new plan of admitting women on ladies' days without even the tax payment...The local clubs figure the gals will spend two bits each at the concessions and about 10 per cent will shell out for reserved seats, but the visitors don't share in these items . . . Look for a torrid discussion at next winter's meetings . . . Illinois U. enters a claim to having the youngest of the 1944 crop of college footballers on a squad of more than 50 players under 18 . . . He is Bob Goralski, 189-pound center, who won't be 17 until Jan. 8.
